Appeal from Linn District Court - L. Vern Robinson, Judge.

Petitioner-wife appeals from the decree dissolving the parties' marriage. AFFIRMED

Richard D. Raymon and Gregory J. Epping, Cedar Rapids, Iowa, for petitioner-appellant.

David S Nelson, Cedar Rapids, Iowa, for respondent-appellee.

Considered en banc.

PER CURIAM

Petitioner-wife appeals from the property division of the decree dissolving the parties' marriage. The parties owned five parcels of real estate. At the time of trial, petitioner-wife lived in a house on one parcel and respondent-husband lived in a house on another parcel. Each claimed at trial that the other's house was worth more. The trial court awarded each party the other's house. The house respondent-husband received was encumbered, and the trial court awarded him another parcel as an offset against the encumbrance. The trial court ordered the two remaining parcels sold and the proceeds equally divided. Upon our de novo review of the entire record, we find this Solomon-like decree equitable and justified.

AFFIRMED.
