2

Respondent wife appeals from the trial court's order modifying the child custody provision of the parties' dissolution decree. The court eliminated the joint custody provision and awarded sole custody to petitioner husband. We agree with the court that circumstances have so substantially changed since the original decree that sole custody should be awarded to the husband. The record contains more than enough evidence that the child would be in danger of living in an atmosphere of constant violence and anger if she remained in the physical care of respondent and her boyfriend with whom she is living. The trial court's order is affirmed.

AFFIRMED.
