CLERK SUPREME COURT

ANTHONY BUGH,

Applicant-Appellant,

48

vs.

STATE OF IOWA,

Respondent-Appellee.

Appeal from the Iowa District Court for Lee County, R.
David Fahey, Judge.

Appellant appeals a district court denial of postconviction relief. AFFIRMED.

Linda Del Gallo, Acting State Appellate Defender, and Shari Barron, Assistant State Appellate Defender, for appellant.

Bonnie J. Campbell, Attorney General, Gordon E. Allen,
Deputy Attorney General, and Kristin W. Ensign, Assistant
Attorney General, for appellee.

Heard by Oxberger, C.J., and Schlegel and Sackett, JJ.

PER CURIAM

This appeal from a trial court's denial of postconviction relief, following the prison's disciplinary committee's finding that applicant-appellant Anthony Bugh had violated a prison disciplinary rule, challenges the vagueness of the rule and the evidence supporting the determination there was a violation. We affirm.

Applicant was disciplined for violation of a prison rule against tampering with locks or security items after he put his arm in a cell doorway preventing the door from closing.

I.

Applicant contends the challenged rule is unconstitutionally vague because the rule did not give him notice his conduct was a violation of the rule. We find no basis to this claim.

II.

Applicant does not deny he put his arm in the cell doorway preventing it from closing. He contends, however, this is not evidence he violated the rule. We will overturn the decision of the disciplinary committee only if there is no evidence to support its findings. See Allen v. State, 418 N.W.2d 67, 71 (Iowa 1988); Wilson v. Farrier, 372 N.W.2d 499, 501 (Iowa 1985). The cell could not be locked by virtue of applicant's actions. We affirm the committee and the trial court.

AFFIRMED.
